Tips for a more effective inquiry

- Be specific in your question. What information would you like to find?
- Indicate sources you have previously consulted. This avoids duplication of research and saves time.
- Indicate any previous contact with Museum staff regarding your inquiry. We may be able to consult our files and avoid duplicating any research.

Duplication, Citation and Publication

Permission to examine the Archives does not include permission to make facsimile reproductions of any manuscript or any excerpt from the documents at any time. It does not give permission to quote, paraphrase or use in any way a letter, memorandum or document written by a person still living without the consent of the author. A written application for audio/visual duplication must be made to the Museum. All quotations from sources within the Archives shall give due reference to the Archives (courtesy of the Strathcona County Museum & Archives or as indicated on the item).

Archival materials may only be photocopied by the staff, which will provide dividers to be placed in the box when items are removed. If there are authorial or donor restrictions or if the staff believes there is any chance of damage, no photo-duplication will be possible. Do not remove items from files, request assistance for photocopying.

Reproductions of archival documents, books, photographs, and audio files required by the Researcher will be done by the staff/volunteer at a cost as noted below.

I have read and agree to abide by the regulations governing the use of these archival records. I am responsible to conform to copyright, right-to-privacy, libel, slander, and any other applicable statutes. I agree to indemnify and hold harmless the Museum, its officers and employees from any and all claims resulting from the use of materials in the Archives. If I require copies for a purpose other than research and private study, I understand that I must first secure permission from the copyright owner of the work in question before copies will be made. I understand there are legal consequences for breaching this agreement. I understand any copies I request are to be used solely for the purposes of research or private study and failure to comply with these regulations may result in the denial of access to the collections.
